Suzanne Kelly
Founder and CEO
The Cipher Brief

Suzanne Kelly is the Founder and CEO of The Cipher Brief, (www.thecipherbrief.com), an online security news platform developed for a business audience.

Prior to launching TCB, Kelly was a CNN Intelligence Correspondent and co-founded, and served as co-editor of CNN's national security website. She also served as an Executive Producer at the network and spent nine years as a freelance news anchor for CNN International based both in Atlanta, Georgia and Berlin, Germany. During that time she anchored a series of news programs that were broadcast live to all of CNNI's global audiences.

In 2009, her first book, Master of War: Blackwater USA's Erik Prince and the Business of War was published by Harper Collins. The book was included as part of the teaching curriculum at the Army War College.

Kelly is currently finishing her second book, a spy thriller.
